PAINES CELERY COMPOUND

ACTS AT THE SAME TIME ON THE NERVES, THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS

This combined action gives it won-derful power to cure all diseases.

Why Are We Sick? Because we allow the nerves to remain weakened and irritated, and these great organs to become clogged or torpid, and poisonous humors are therefore forced into the blood that should be expelled naturally.

PAINE'S { CELERY COMPOUND WILL GURE BILIOUSNESS, PILES, CONSTITATION, NIDMEY COMPLAINTS, URINARY DISEASES, PEMALE WEAKNESS, RIEUMATISM, NEUFALOIGA, AND ALL NERVOUS DISORDERS,

By quicting and strengthening the nerves, and causing free action of the liver, bowels, and kidneys, and restoring their power to throw off disease.

Why suffer Billous Pains and Aches?
Why termented with Piles, Constipation?
Why frightened over Disordered Kidneys!
Why endure servous or sick beadaches?
Why have sleepless nights? Use Paise's Crieny Compound and rejoice in health. It is an entirely vegetable remedy, harmless in all cases.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1.00. WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Proprietors, a few humorous and dialectic verses which had been popular with the newspapers.

The appointment as secretary of the branch mint in 1804 freed the young poet and jurnalist from the necessity of abusing his talents by overproduction and gave him leisure for more careful and ambitious work. During the six years that he held this office he wrote many of his best poems, and toward the close of this period/produced the first of those short stories that proved his original genius and gave him instant fame. He was recognized by his friends and acquaintances as a young man of distinct ability, and had won considerable local reputation as a writer and poet, but his name was scarcely known outside of California. It was natural when Anton Roman, a leading bookseller of San Francisco, conceived the idea of publishing a magazine which should be an exponent of the Hierature of the Pacific coast, that he should offer the editorship to Bret Harte. This was in 1868. The title "Oreland Monthly" was suggested by the editor and adopted. The first number of the Orerland appeared in July, 1868. Mark Twain and Charles Warren Stoddard were among the contributors, and Bret Harte was represented by a poem, "San Francisco from the Sea."

Bret Harte's real fame as a writer began with the second number of the magazine, August, 1868, in which appeared "The Luck of Roaring Camp." The Luck of Roaring Camp. The story of the publication of this pathetic tale has been given by the author himself in the introduction of his pathetic tale has been given by the author himself would be an extracts from this preface are given:

"When the first number of the Orerland Monthly appeared, the author, then its editor, called the publisher's attention to the lack of any distinctive California romance in its pages, and averred that, should no other contribution contribution of this preface are given:

"When the first number of the Orerland Monthly appeared, the author, then its editor, called the publisher's attention to the lack of any distinctive California

fornia romance in its pages, and averred that, should no other contribution come , he himself would supply the omis in, he himself would supply the omission in the next number. No other contribution was offered; and the author, having the plot and general idea already in his mind, in a few days sent the manuscript of "The Luck of Roaring Camp" to the printer. He had not yet received the proof sheets when he was suddenly summoned to the office of the publisher, whom he found standing the picture of dismay and anxiety with the proof before him. The indignation and stapefaction of the number of the magazine for which it was written, without emendation, onis-sion, alteration or apology. But the troubles of the "Luck" were far from ended. The secular press, with guages.

By this time his first book of stories had been published in Boston, "The Luck of Roaring Camp and other sketches." Encouraged by his success Bret Harte resigned the editorship of the Overland in 1871, as well as the Professorship of Recent Literature in the University of California, to which he had just been called, and set in to try his literary fortunes in the East. A plan to establish a magazine in Chicago under his management was not success. under his management was not successful, and he pushed on to New York and Boston. He was for a time, if I am not mistaken, assistant editor of the Atlantic fine office of the publisher, with the emphatic declaration that the matter therefore as of indecent, irreligious and improper that his proof reader—a young lady—had with difficulty been induced to continue its perusal, and that he as a friend of the publisher and a well wisher of the magazine, was impelled to present to him personally this shameless evidence of the manner in which the editor was imperriling the future of that enterprise.

Believing only that he was the victin of some extraordinary typographical blunder, the author at once sat down and read the proof and declared that he would resign if the story were not printed.
